IN RE: PETITION TO ADOPT A NEW RULE OF THE TENNESSEE SUPREME COURT CONCERNING THE PRACTICE OF COLLABORATIVE FAMILY LAW

No. ADM2017-01195

COMMENT OF THE BOARD OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY TO PETITION TO ADOPT A NEW RULE OF THE TENNESSEE SUPREME COURT CONCERNING THE PRACTICE OF COLLABORATIVE FAMILY LAW

Comes now the Board of Professional Responsibility (the Board), pursuant to Order filed August 22, 2017, and submits the following Comment to Petition to Adopt a New Rule of the Tennessee Supreme Court concerning the Practice of Collaborative Family Law:

- 1. The Board supports the Tennessee Bar Association's proposed new Tennessee Supreme Court rule regarding collaborative law since it provides a framework for Tennessee attorneys currently practicing collaborative family law.
- 2. The Board finds collaborative family law to be a type of limited scope practice permitted by Tenn. Sup. Ct. R. 8, RPC 1.2(c) provided that the limitation is reasonable under the circumstances and the client gives informed consent, in writing as required by Section 4 of the proposed new rule.
- 3. The Board supports Section 13 of the proposed rule which states, "This rule does not affect: (a) Except as provide in Sections 9 and 10, the professional responsibility obligations and standards applicable to a lawyer..."

Accordingly, the Board endorses the proposed collaborative family law rule, but notes that notwithstanding the exceptions in Sections 9 and 10 which must be discussed and agreed to in writing by the client, participating in this type of practice does not alter or diminish an attorney's ethical obligations to clients pursuant to the Rules of Professional Conduct.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED

Comment regarding the proposed Supreme Court Rule on the practice of Collaborative Law: docket number ADM2017-01195

I am an attorney who practiced law for 30 years and ceased practicing law in order to devote myself full time to mediation. If I had learned about Collaborative Law earlier, I might still be practicing law, as I believe it is an excellent option for selected parties seeking a divorce without the polarizing effects of many typical lawyer driven divorces.

I applaud the Supreme Court in proposing these rules to outline and define, by court rule, the collaborative practice of law in Tennessee. Please accept this letter (transmitted via email only) as support for the proposed rule.

Thank you kindly for considering my comments.

Respectfully, John R. Selser 865-457-4620 johnselser@att.net 311 Nave Street Clinton, TN 37716

IN RE: COLLABORATIVE FAMILY LAW PETITION COMMENTS

SENT VIA EMAIL ONLY—HARD COPY RETAINED—TO appellate courtelerk @theourts.gov

Dear Mr. Hivner:

Wow! Yet another way that, respectfully, our Supreme Court is chipping away at the profession of law, as it helps all the farmers and "lawyer haters" (e.g. former court reporter Mae Beavers) in the General Assembly, who gut our noble profession with their votes in the House and Senate, and then go to the latest party thrown for the legislators by their favorite lobbyist of choice, usually the insurance lobby, the manufacturers' lobby, or the health care lobby, where booze and "other pleasures" (if you get my drift) are freely available to our solons. Why our learned Supreme Court has to facilitate this has never been comprehended by my rather small mind here in this small-town hick practice I have in northeast Tennessee. The only thing this does is reduce the 5% of the cases our jurists actually try to 3%: still a "George Jetson"-like occupation.

Soon anyone from any "jake leg" institution who calls themselves a "mediator", "collaborative family lawyer," "collaborative lawyer" (are we now going to have "solicitors" and "barristers"?), "licensed mental health therapist," "CASA worker," and so forth will join the thousands of "poor, destitute, pro se litigants" and say: "I can be an attorney, also. I don't have to go through three years of Hell called law school. I don't have to prepare for the worst two days one can ever experience, the Bar Examination. I don't have to do any of this, because I'm a lawyer without portfolio!!!!!!"

I have talked myself blue in the face with multi-page screeds having been sent on numerous occasions to comment on issues that are already faits accompli. Since this is one, I am saving my efforts for trying to make money to pay my increasing overhead, in a milieu in which law school graduates, most ill-prepared for the actual practice of law, are being churned out like cockroaches.

Yours very truly,

SANTORE AND SANTORE
