MEMBER BIOGRAPHIES

TELFORD E. FORGETY, JR., CHAIR

Chancellor
4th and 5th Judicial Districts

Telford E. Forgety, Jr., has served as Chancellor since October 1997. He received his Bachelor's Degree from Carson-Newman College (Jefferson City, Tennessee) and his J.D. from the Memphis State University School of Law (Memphis, Tennessee). He was in private practice in the firm of Rainwater, Forgety, and Jones, Dandridge, Tennessee, from 1976 to 1997. He served as Law Clerk to Judge James Parrott of the Eastern Section Court of Appeals from 1975 to 1976. During his private practice, Chancellor Forgety tried hundreds of cases at all levels and appeared before the appellate courts—Court of Appeals, Court of Criminal Appeals, and Supreme Court—some thirty times. He served two terms as President of the Tennessee Trial Judges' Association and has held multiple offices in the Tennessee Judicial Conference. He also served on the Appellate Court Evaluation Committee (evaluating Tennessee's Appellate Judges), and on the Tennessee Supreme Court's Worker's Compensation Panel. In 2017, Chancellor Forgety served as Chairman of the Tennessee Trial Judges' Association's Judicial Resource Study Committee where redistricting was studied. He is a frequent presenter of Continuing Legal Education Programs, and is a member of the Tennessee Bar Association and of the Cocke, Blount, Grainger, Jefferson and Sevier County Bar Associations.
